

With our passion for Linux, we have been supporting exciting and innovative projects for well-known customers in the industrial environment every day for over 20 years. With us, you are always at the forefront of technology. Our employees are our success, so we value your personal contribution and always have an open ear for you. With us, you have a high degree of individual freedom and the opportunity for co-determination. Whether part-time, full-time or mobile office, we give you the freedom you need to balance your private and professional life and to realize your personal life model. We continue to grow and are looking for you to join our team as

Technical Project Manager (m/f/d)

Your tasks and responsibilities at Linutronix:

As a Technical Project Manager (m/f/d) you take the lead in project planning, execution and tracking. You monitor and control the project being delivered within the approved budget, planned scope, and timeframe. You balance technical requirements, team logistics, and schedules to meet customer requirements in time. Internally, you act as an interface between the R&D project team and sales. Externally, you interact with the customer in all technical project-related matters.

You fit in well with us if you can bring the following to the job:

- ☑ 5+ years of professional experience in technical project management
- ☑ Completed university studies (bachelor's degree, master's degree, diploma) in engineering, computer science, mechatronics or related fields
- ☑ Technical experience with software and agile development processes
- ☑ Strong communication skills to coordinate with team members, customers and management
- ☑ Structured organizational skills and time management skills to keep projects on track to the finish
- ☑ Strong analytical, problem solving, presentation, and stakeholder management skills
- ☑ Practical and proactive mindset
- ☑ Excellent command of English
- ☑ Passion for open source

This is what we offer you:

- ☑ Informal start-up atmosphere with an open corporate culture and flat hierarchies
- ☑ Motivated team to support onboarding and project tasks
- ☑ Flexible working hours, mobile office and part-time options
- ☑ Large scope for creativity and personal responsibility
- ☑ Exciting development projects and renowned customers from different industries
- ☑ Regular team events such as lunch cooking sessions
- ☑ Company pension allowance and capital-forming benefits
- ☑ Annual training budget

Interested?

Please send us your documents at join.us@linutronix.de

LINUTRONIX GMBH | Bahnhofstraße 3 | D-88690 Uhldingen-Mühlhofen

Phone: +49 7556 25 999 0 | ww.linutronix.de | Follow Us: Twitter | Xing | LinkedIn